

You're going to Love Marlborough

Marlborough is in the heart of New Zealand, at the northeast of the South Island. Renowned for the waterways and native wilderness of the Marlborough Sounds, and the exquisite wines produced in the sweeping Wairau and Awatere plains, Marlborough offers something special for everyone.

The region is well serviced by transport links from other regions and has good range of accommodation, activities and attractions to suit a range of different visitors.